SIXTY EUROPEANS ARE KILLED

Even as Late as End of February Singapore Was Still Unsafe Missionary Writes

How American missionaries, attending a Methodist church conference at Singapore, India, when the native troops there rebelled against British rule in February, loaded their families on board ship and themselves took arms to defend the white inhabitants is told in a letter received today by Rev. John H. Klaus of this city from his son, Rev. Armin V. Klaus, a Methodist missionary stationed at Batavia, on the island of Java.

Sixty White Civilians Killed. The letter declares that the native rebels killed all their European officers and about sixty prominent white civilians before the mutiny was quelled.

Rev. Klaus's letter is the first word of the Singapore mutiny received in the United States outside of the official announcement earlier this week by the British war office, which declared that English territorial forces, assisted by French, Russian and Japanese troops, had quelled the mutiny and captured the leaders.

The letter, which is dated at Batavia, March 1, tells of the mutiny in this language:

Civilians Take Arms. "A regiment of native troops stationed near Singapore mutinied, first killing their own European officers and then all the other whites they could find. Since most of the English soldiers have gone to the front, Singapore is not well provided with regulars, but the volunteers and most of the private citizens took arms against the mutineers.

"The city was immediately placed under martial law and the women and children ordered on boats lying in the harbor. Of course, we adjourned conference, took the missionaries home and the government and were accepted.

"The bishop and nearly all of the missionaries bore arms for the English government. After two or three days the mutineers began to lose and we resumed our conference sessions. But when I left many parts of Singapore were still considered unsafe for the whites. About sixty whites lost their lives in this trouble, many of them prominent people in professional circles.

"We were very thankful that no harm came to any of our conference people."

Native of La Crosse. Rev. Armin Klaus is a native of La Crosse. He was born here in 1887, during his father's former incumbency at the German Methodist church. He received his education at Northwestern university and Garret Bible Institute, going direct to Java after his graduation from the latter school. He is unmarried.

Business Is Good

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 17.—The Pennsylvania railroad will receive bids today for part of the new rolling stock equipment for which $20,000,000 has been set aside. The bids asked today will be for the immediate construction of 144 locomotives, 146 all steel cars and approximately 10,000 freight cars.

Wanderlust Hits This Youngster In Early Years

Cake and candy and a love for making mud pies on the Burlington railroad passenger tracks near his home today caused Norman Olson, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, 130 Jay street, to be taken in hand by the humane society.

D. C. Dewey, humane officer, was called by the police to investigate the reasons for Mrs. Olson tying her son to a post with a clothesline. "Norman has an awful failing for the railroad tracks and begs pennies and nickels from strangers," said Mrs. Olson. "I can find no other way to make him stay at home." When she told the story of the four-year-old's wanderings, Norman was out on another hike. He was found in Market square.

"Give me a penny," he said. He was taken to his home by Mr. Dewey.

AMERICAN FACING DEATH IN YUCATAN

Alfred Tappan of New York Courtmartialled and Sentenced to Be Shot Washington Hears

VILLISTAS RETIRE FROM BORDER

Abandon Siege of Matamoros and Start to the South for City of Celaya

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Alfred Tappan, a New Yorker, has been court martialled in Yucatan and sentenced to be shot, the state department learned today. The charge against him was unknown. Instructions were rushed to Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz and to the American consul at Progreso to intervene.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, April 17.—Villista besiegers at Matamoros are in full retreat toward Monterey, apparently intending to join Villa at Celaya. The retreat began yesterday noon, and the camp today is entirely deserted, while the Carranzista garrison in the city is celebrating.

H. L. Morris, representative of the Brownsville Sentinel, in the Villista camp, is missing and is believed to have been kidnapped by General Rodriguez to prevent news of the retreat from leaking out.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Fighting was renewed late yesterday, reports received today said, between Villa and Obregon at Celaya, where success is expected to make the victor dominant in Mexico. State department advices indicated that, although Villa had to fall back during the early fighting, his losses were far less than Carranza claims.

Consul Silliman has requested Carranza to permit food to be sent to Mexico City.

RUSSIAN COMMANDER IN CHIEF IS REPORTED KILLED BY OWN OFFICER

BERLIN, via wireless to Sayville, L. I., April 17.—Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the Russian army, was shot in the abdomen and seriously wounded by Baron Sievers, commander of the defeated Russian Tenth army, during a heated quarrel, according to an article published today by the Dulsburg newspaper General Anzeiger. Baron Sievers, it was reported, then committed suicide.

The newspaper said it received this information from "absolutely unimpeachable sources." The grand duke, the article said, summoned Baron Sievers to headquarters and demanded that he explain his defeat. During the quarrel the grand duke boxed General Sievers' ears, whereupon the latter drew a revolver and shot the duke.

WILSON NOT STRONG AS IN 1912 SAYS BOB LA FOLLETTE

Senator, However, Says Prosperity May Restore His Popularity by 1916

SAYS HARD TIMES WERE SURE

Wilson's Tearing Down of Special Interest Bulwarks Bad Job That Had to Be Done

WASHINGTON, April 17.—After a trip through Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas, Senator Robert M. La Follette believes that President Wilson is not as strong, politically speaking, as he was when elected.

"That doesn't mean," he said, "that he will not be strong again a year from next fall. Nobody can tell about that. Prosperous times would work a great change, probably. Remember what it did for Taft. We didn't think he'd get a vote in Wisconsin some months prior to the election, but along came a period of better times and he got several."

"President Wilson's efforts to undo the work done for 25 or 30 years in behalf of special business interests naturally has resulted in bad times. It is a terrific job that has to be done and the man that accomplishes it ought hardly to expect to serve more than one term."

"The trouble with President Wilson in this connection is that he has shown a disposition to compromise, to try to 'help business.' However, he has done a great deal more already than either Taft or Roosevelt."

Politicians who think progressivism is dead are mistaken, said the Wisconsin senator. "There is as much progressivism as there ever was," he said, "and they'll find it out if they carry through their program of nominating the worst hard-shell republican they can find. The result will be as wide a division as there was last time—either before or after the nomination had been made."

With regard to the report printed some weeks ago that he had made a deal with President Wilson whereby the latter was to support him in his next race for the senatorship, La Follette said: "I do not need his support. No such deal, of course, was made or contemplated. I look forward with pleasure to the campaign at home."

MAIL ROBBER GIVES UP

ALBERT LEA, Minn., April 17.—A man giving the name of T. A. Fink, gave himself up to local police here today and according to the police confessed that he had robbed the U. S. mails of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe at Ottawa, Kan., on the night of December 26, 1913, getting $315 in checks and currency. He says he tired of trying to evade the law. He says he worked in a Minneapolis saloon before coming here.

GET LINES TO F-4

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Admiral Moore reported from Honolulu today that divers had transferred three lines, attached to the F-4 to the lifting pontoons, but that a fourth line was needed before the work of raising the submarine began. It was hoped this would be accomplished today.

ESTIMATE HUBBY'S LOVE AT 6 CENTS

MILWAUKEE, April 17.—Mrs. Catherine Winter, who was suing Mrs. Emma Budzein in circuit court for alienation of Gerhardt Winter's affections, won her case this afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of "compensatory damages, six cents; punitive damages, nothing."

Before announcing the verdict, the foreman asked Judge Williams if the defendant should be required to pay the costs. The court replied that costs would be no larger than the damages.

Among other allegations, Mrs. Winter accused Mrs. Budzein of taking a bath in Winter's presence. Mrs. Budzein's two daughters testified in her behalf.

EUGENIC LAW IS CAUSE OF BIG ROW

Lie Is Passed in Assembly in Hot Debate on Amendment to Examination Statute

BILL PASSES AS RECOMMENDED

Amendment to Include the Women as Well as the Men Is Defeated

MADISON, Wis., April 17.—The assembly disposed of their calendar this morning without delay or discussion until the Morgan bill amending the eugenics law, came up at the foot of the calendar.

Before the smoke of battle had cleared away, the lie had been passed, sixteen members of the bare quorum present had expressed their views on the subject, an amendment to include women in the law had been defeated and the bill finally ordered to engrossment, as recommended by the committee.

The bill provides that a thorough physical examination must be made, and a microscopic test made to determine the presence of disease organisms.

Assemblyman Carl Hanson then attacked the report of the vice commission, drawing a hot retort from Assemblyman Minkley that "this is a serious matter, and was not to be disposed of in speaking lightly on the subject." Assemblyman Morgan, Pequin county, entered into a defense of the present law generally, saying that the proposed amendment was designed to simplify it and make the kind of examination to be made more definite.

While the discussion was at all times heated, the real passage at arms came toward the close of the discussion. Assemblyman Morgan had introduced his amendment to include women for the purpose of killing the whole law.

Assemblyman Johnson entered the fray at this point, saying that several members had said last night that Mr. Hanson had made such a statement.

"Anyone who said that was guilty of a deliberate lie," was the prompt rejoinder of Mr. Hanson.

Assemblyman Lathrop arose not ten feet from Mr. Hanson, and stated that the remark had been made by Hanson in his presence.

"My statement still stands," thundered Hanson.

The speaker was seen to grow nervous at this point, but further controversy was shut off by a point of order.

An amendment by Assemblyman Grell to include an examination for tuberculosis, was defeated. Following the defeat of the Hanson amendment, the bill was ordered to engrossment without a roll call and a few dissenting votes.

LONDON IN GRASP OF ZEPPELINITIS WAITS FOR ATTACK

Every Cloud Conceals German Aircraft in Excited Minds of Essex Villagers and Rumors Fly Wildly

SAT UP LAST NIGHT FOR RAID

Because It Did Not Take Place Capital Confidently Expects Attack Tonight

LONDON, April 17.—A German Taube flew over Selby in Yorkshire, fourteen miles from York, today on the fourth aerial "invasion" of England in the last sixty hours.

The Taube was first sighted at 11 a. m. traveling rapidly and at a great height, said a later dispatch from Selby. The German then tilted downward in zig-zag fashion swooping close to the earth and circling the town. He departed in an easterly direction. The Selby authorities reported that early this afternoon they had heard of no bombs having been dropped.

LONDON, April 17.—London and east coast towns suffered from Zeppelinitis today. In the excited minds of the Essex villagers every cloud concealed a German dirigible or aeroplane. Wild reports received here almost hourly carried fresh rumors of Zeppelin raids.

A Zeppelin raid upon London was fully expected last night. Because it did not come Londoners are equally certain that the attack will be made tonight, weather conditions permitting. Consequently, all the precautions taken last night, when all lights were extinguished and motor cars patrolled all the highways into London, will be observed tonight.

Berlin Reports Damage

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., April 17.—Zeppelin airships did great damage on their recent raids of English coast towns, according to private dispatches received here today from Holland. Several officers of the British coast guard were killed or wounded and bombs were dropped upon British ships patrolling the coast to protect the shipyards. Bombs also fell on the English docks.

An official statement from the war office this afternoon declared the German aviator who bombed Kent towns yesterday afternoon shelled Greenwich, five miles from London Bridge, on the right bank of the Thames. The royal observatory from which longitude is computed for the entire world, and important chemical and engineering works, are at Greenwich. The official statement did not say whether damage was done.

Airships Return Safely

BERLIN, via Wireless to London, April 17.—The German naval airship that bombed defended English east coast towns on the night of April 15-16, despite a heavy fire from the English guns, has returned safely," said an official statement from the war office today.

Reports received in London indicated that two, possibly three Zeppelins participated in the raid on Suffolk and Essex towns early yesterday. Dutch sources reported three.

Dinner at Stoddard Hotel Fails of Issue Because Two Organizations Fail to Participate

Members of nine La Crosse organizations represented at a supper at the Stoddard hotel last night failed to pass upon either of the two proposals which brought them together. About twenty-five of the large number invited were present.

A majority of the representatives stood in favor of the plan to merge all civic, commercial and professional organizations and clubs into a unit, although some argued against the plan.

U. S. WARSHIPS SENT TO FIND WHAT JAPS ARE DOING IN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today announced that Admiral Howard, Pacific fleet commander, had diverted the cruiser New Orleans, on its way from San Diego to Mazatlan, to Turtle Bay, to learn just what the Japanese were doing at the latter place.

The New Orleans, said the secretary, was due at Turtle Bay today and he had requested Howard to have its commander make a report as speedily as possible.

In sending his request to the admiral, Daniels continued, he notified the latter of the character of newspaper stories published concerning the alleged activities of the mikado's forces on the Mexican west coast and explained that he was anxious to have the matter fully and definitely explained.

SLAVS PLEAD FOR AID OF ITALY AS VIENNA ANNOUNCES VICTORY

This Horse Knew 'Home Sweet Home' In Equine Way

Loneliness for its lifelong mate which died a few days ago caused a horse to travel alone in the dark on Thursday night from Irish Coulee in Bostwick Valley to La Crosse, a distance of more than eighteen miles. Mrs. Andrew Nelson found the horse in its stall in a barn at the rear of her grocery store, 1415 Jackson street, yesterday morning, placidly munching hay, and occasionally casting side glances at the stall which had sheltered its harness mate for years.

"Daisy," the other horse, had died in the harness from old age. "Babe" was pulling the grocery wagon with her at the time. Then "Babe" was left to pull the grocery wagon alone. Thursday morning Mr. Nelson hitched her to a light rig and drove her to the Irish Coulee farm near which she and her companion were raised. When Mr. Nelson looked around the pasture for "Babe" yesterday morning she was gone. A long distance telephone message told him that she had reached her old barn in La Crosse.

GENERAL STRIKE THREATENS CHICAGO

Union Labor in All Branches to Consider Sympathetic Walk-out to Aid Carpenters

WOULD CAUSE INDUSTRIAL TIE-UP

Contractors Vote Lock-out Today on All Building Trades Now on Strike

CHICAGO, April 17.—Federation of Labor officials today called mass meetings for tomorrow when union labor in practically every branch of trade will consider a proposition to strike in sympathy with the 18,000 carpenters, who walked out Thursday. Such a sympathy strike, while considered by many union leaders as unnecessary, would, if brought about, cause the worst tie-up of industry in Chicago's history.

Another development in Chicago's labor war which has stopped work on more than $30,000,000 worth of construction, came today when the contractors who employ painters, lathers, carpenters and sheet metal workers met and formally voted a lockout against the union workmen. All the trades mentioned are on strike.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Charged with attempting to extort $500 from Vincent Astor by means of "black hand" letters, John Muriella, an Italian baker, is under arrest today.

STINKERS WIN

ZION CITY, Ill., April 17.—Prophet Voliva, ruler of Zion City, has lost his fight against "stinkers." "Stinkers," it might be recalled, include all folks who smoke or chew. For many months the air of Zion City has been free from scent of Midway Nicotine, except in rare instances, and in those instances the smoker instantly was jailed or fined. Judge Claire Edwards, whose judicial balliwick includes Voliva's domains today entered a decree enjoining Voliva's celestial cops from pinching smokers and from prosecuting those already arrested.

PROMISE SUPPORT TO ITALIAN IDEAL IF HELP IS GIVEN

RUSS OFFENSIVE ENTIRELY BROKEN

Enemy's Losses so Appalling That 600 Trains of Wounded Left Each Day Vienna Declares

RUSSIANS SAY IT'S ONLY LULL

Assert They Are Re-distributing Their Forces for Resumption of the Offensive

ROME, April 17.—Russia will give complete support to the realization of Italian ideals, provided Italy intervenes at once on the side of the allies, according to a telegram from the Russian minister of foreign affairs, Sazanoff, made public here last night.

The novelist, Amphithatroff, also made public a telegram from the Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of Russia's armies. The grand duke wired that participation in the war was the only course Italy could pursue to insure the realization of her ideals.

Vienna Says Slavs Are Beaten. VIENNA, via Berlin Wireless, April 16.—"The most gigantic battle in the history of the world has resulted in the complete defeat of the Russians attempting to cross the Carpathians," said an official statement from the Austrian office today.

"In the four weeks' engagement, three and one-half million men participated. The conflict reached its climax several days ago when the Russian offensive stopped, entirely repulsed. The enemy's losses were appalling."

"Daily as many as 600 trains carried the wounded into the interior of Russia."

Russia Reports "Lull." PETROGRAD, April 17.—Taking advantage of the lull in the fighting in the Carpathians, the Russians are redistributing their forces for the next great phase of the battle which will be waged in the region of the Ussok pass.

For a period of two weeks there may be no important news from the Carpathians, officials said today.

The centers of both the Slav and Austro-German armies have fought to exhaustion north of the Ussok. Severe spring freshets have aided in bringing operations to a halt.

Minor Operations

On the banks, minor operations are continuing. The fighting is particularly severe in the Strij valley, around Tuchla, where the Germans have renewed their attempted outflanking movement, but without success. The Russians are maintaining their positions south of the Dukla, their extreme right having made slight gains in the direction of Tarno, west of Bartfeld.

Attack Slackens

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., April 17.—The special correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung reported today a marked slackening of the Russian offensive in the Carpathians on the whole front, with no expectation of a renewal of the attacks for several days. A general thaw has begun in the mountains and many rivers are out of their banks.

JAP CRUISER UP TO HER DECK IN MUD

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Official Mexican coast advices to the navy department today contradicted press accounts that the Japanese cruiser Asama can be floated easily. Admiral Howard declared the vessel was in mud nearly to her decks and might be a total loss. Naval officials said this disproved effectively assertions that she was beached purposely as an excuse for establishing a Japanese Turtle bay base.

AUSTRIA DENIES PEACE RUMOR

VIENNA, via Berlin Wireless, April 17.—Reports that Austria has attempted to conclude a separate peace with Russia, are utterly without foundation, according to a statement printed in the Fremdenblatt, the official government organ, today.

ZEPPELIN FALLS IN ADRIATIC

PARIS, April 17.—One of the two Zeppelins Germany gave Austria fell into the Adriatic while maneuvering off Pola, according to dispatches received here today. Every member of her crew perished.

Daddy's Bedtime

How the Pussy Story — Willows Got Their Little Gray Coats.

"DADDY, why are these pussy willows called pussy willows?" asked Evelyn, holding up a willow branch which she had brought in from a ramble in the woods with her mamma that afternoon.

"Wait till Jack comes, and I'll tell you all about it," said daddy. "Ah, here he is now! Come, scramble up here beside me on the sofa, kiddies; cuddle down and open wide your ears, and I'll tell you all I know about the cute pussy willows and their funny little coats."

"I may have told you in some of my stories about the wood nymphs or fairies who cannot dress in gorgeous robes, as the sun fairies do, in pink and blue, violet and crimson, orange and yellow. No, indeed! They wear little gowns of dark green and brown and modest silvery gray because they have so much work to do."

"But even in their frocks of subdued coloring they are darling little nymphs, and all the wood folk love them, for they help the squirrels to find nuts and the birds to build their nests as well as caring for the green things."

"One day in early spring one little nymph whose name was Glad and who was dressed all in silvery gray fur had finished her work and was walking beside a little brook bordered upon each side by lovely willow trees."

"The little brook was singing, and the leaves were joining in, and Glad sang, too, just from sheer happiness when suddenly she heard a great tearing and smashing sound as of something tearing through the bushes, and then came the thump, thump of heavy feet. Glad, very frightened, snuggled down beside the trunk of a big willow tree, when suddenly she saw peering at her through the bushes a great gray wolf with big hungry looking eyes."

"But the willow tree beside which she had cuddled down was watching the big angry wolf, too, and the tree bent its branches and covered little Glad. The fierce wolf could not break through the thick, strong branches of the tree, so went tearing away to look for some other little wood nymph perhaps."

"Little Glad was so grateful to the tree that she gave it her cloak, and the willow tree packed it away till the next spring, and then when the March winds began to blow and it was cold for the little buds she made cloaks out of Glad's cloak for the baby buds. And she always had enough fur because every time a piece was used another piece of fur grew in its place, and the little cloaks looked like little gray pussies, and that is why pussy willows are called pussy willows."

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A VISION IN VIOLET

BY HOPE AINSLEE

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Jack Borden had three clues to her identity; he knew her father's telephone number, he had a package that belonged to her and he knew the perfume she used.

He had been standing in a public telephone booth in a drug store on Thirty-fourth street, between which and the other booths there were glass partitions. He had been trying to call one of his friends who was a student at Princeton College, and had found it necessary to hold the phone for some minutes while the young man was being searched for. While he stood in the booth a girl had come hastily into the adjoining compartment, had called a number and had held a short conversation with some one she called "papa." She had been dressed in violet shades from head to foot, even to the dainty leather party bag she had carried. Borden thought he had never beheld so lovely a vision.

A moment after she had gone Borden heard his friend at the other end of the line and entered into conversation with him. As he talked he noticed that the girl had left a small package on the shelf in the booth next to him. As soon as he was finished he stepped into the compartment and took the package. And as he did so he was conscious of the faintest suggestion of sweet English violets. Perhaps she had worn a cluster of them; perhaps it was perfume. In any case the perfume and the memory of her remained in his senses, and he wondered how he could find out who she was. He even remembered her smile as she had listened to something her father had said over the telephone and the girl's eyes had caught his own for one brief instant as they stood so close together, with only the glass partition and conventionality separating them.

Being thoroughly a practical man, Jack Borden set out at once to find out who the girl's father was, since he knew the telephone number she had called. He realized that it was only a chance in a hundred that he could find out the man's name in this way, but if he were a man who had a 'phone in his own name, a lawyer, doctor, merchant, broker, then it might be possible. If he were only one of a firm; if he merely worked for a corporation—then it would be like looking for the proverbial needle that was lost in the haystack.

He had not opened the package, for it was daintily tied with violet ribbon and wrapped in tissue paper. It looked like a gift to some one, and he felt that he had no right to open it. He would do so only if he could find out who she was in no other way than by advertising his find.

After some difficulty he learned that the telephone number the girl had called was the number of the firm of Dorn & Doolittle, with offices in Exchange place, in the lower end of the city. Dorn & Doolittle were commission brokers, and Borden wondered how he was going to find out which partner had a beautiful daughter who had called him on the telephone on Wednesday afternoon, and who wore pastel shades of violet to match her eyes. His was not a very tangible piece of business, and yet he knew he must seek out the partners and find out which was the one he wanted to know.

He reached the office and was confronted by the usual type of New York office boy. Borden had rather hoped to find a human being instead of one of these boys.

"Dorn & Doolittle, I believe?" Borden said, as he entered the small but well-appointed outer office.

"That's what it says on the door. Who do you want?" asked the office boy, continuing the mechanical process of stamping letters and chewing gum.

"Give my card to Mr. Dorn," said Borden suddenly, taking a card from his case.

The boy disappeared. "All right. Step in," he said on returning a moment later.

Jack Borden felt very conscious of his sentimental mission as he stepped into the office of Mr. Dorn and stood the momentary scrutiny of that gentleman's keen eyes.

"Mr. Borden," the senior partner said, politely, "What can I do for you?"

Borden sat down. "My errand is peculiar—it may be important; it may not." He drew from his pocket the violet beribboned package and a guilty flush spread over his face. "I—a young woman who called this office on the telephone last Wednesday and spoke with some one she called 'papa'—Borden laughed as he pronounced the word—"left this parcel in the telephone booth. I have not opened it, but I have felt that I should return it if possible."

Mr. Dorn smiled and took the package. He untied the violet bow and unwrapped an exquisite bit of old lace. "Why—it's my wife's grandmother's wedding veil," he exclaimed. "How could it have been lost?"

"You have a daughter?" Borden asked.

"No; but Doolittle has—a beauty, too. Was it she, do you think?"

Borden smiled and nodded. "I suspect that it was. The young woman was very beautiful."

"And that's why you have been so solicitous about the package," laughed Mr. Dorn. "I see it all now. But how Hilda got this treasure—and then lost it—I don't see," he said, looking again at the bit of yellow lace.

Borden heard voices in the adjoining office. He heard the girl's voice

MISS HICKISCH IS FAMOUS ABROAD

Although a "Home" Singer
Most of Her Triumphs

and the Colonies

The normal Choral society is fortunate in having so excellent and so popular a singer as Miss Hickisch for the soprano solos in the "Messiah" next Monday evening in the normal auditorium. Miss Hickisch would be an acquisition to any choral society, but peculiar interest is attached to the fact in the present instance because she is a "home" singer. At least that is the way most La Crosse people speak of her, though most of her professional career to date has been in England and the colonies, particularly South Africa.

Miss Hickisch had no intention of seeking a career abroad—in fact, after her years of study with the famous Jacques Bouhy in Paris, she returned to London with the Bostonians as the under-study of Alice Neilson in the "Fortune Teller."

It was while singing with this company that Mr. Charles Manners heard Miss Hickisch and offered her a two years contract with the Moody Manners grand opera company. With this company she sang the parts of Marguerite in "Faust," Elsa in "Lohengrin," Nedda in "I Pagliacci," Micaela in "Carmen," not to mention many others. Other engagements followed notably a six year contract with the Edwards opera company which included a two year tour of the English colonies in South Africa.

Speaking of Miss Hickisch's ability, the Johannesburg, South Africa, "New Age," says: "It must not be forgotten that the enactments were full of individuality, betraying not only the possession of a voice of almost incomparable quality, but a mental comprehension and assimilative power that were truly remarkable."

When Miss Hickisch sang the part of Marguerite in Dublin the music critic on the "Times" wrote: "Miss Hickisch, whose excellent work has charmed so many, is a most capable artist who seems to rise to the requirements of any role she undertakes. Her voice is fresh and pure and she has a fine method of singing which suggests a sound continuous training."

BIG-STICKING PEACEColonel Roosevelt has been very busy since the war broke out in Europe preaching that war is a kind of natural disorder that is unavoidable in the present stage of civilization.
With this as a tenet of his faith he has blossomed out as the protagonist of the jingo. "Preparedness," he says in the preface to his recent publication, "America and the World War," is the only insurance against war and the only insurance against overwhelming disaster and disaster in war."The colonel admits that peace has its points, but the only way he sees to insure peace—outside, of course, of every nation's arming until it is a walking arsenal inspiring just as much fear of itself as it in turn feels toward its similarly caparisoned neighbor states—is an international league of nations enforcing the dictates of an impartial court with the combined strength of its members.Since the colonel is willing to grant that peace can be secured by such a combination of nations, one perhaps may be permitted to wonder why he is so abusively opposed to one of the first steps looking in that direction—the approaching convention of the Women's Peace society, composed of women of the neutral nations, at The Hague. If his opposition is based upon the objection that only the neutral states are to be represented at the gathering, he should consider that the circumstances of war effectually prohibit the belligerents from taking part, even if their patriotic assurance that there can be no peace until their respective causes are triumphant would permit it.The colonel's reason, however, is that the gathering is futile. Perhapshe is right, as far as the present war is concerned. The milk is spilled so thoroughly that the women's appeals will not pick it up again of a sudden. But there is an end of all things, and when once the European war is over, anything which will help disseminate the doctrine of war's uselessness and promote amity between the nations cannot be regarded as wasted effort.Mr. Roosevelt is in the position of lauding peace while shouting for warlike preparation and denouncing societies striving for peace in the same breath. And with his customary viciousness of phrasing he applies to the peace agitators such descriptives as "silly, base, noxious, cowardly, illogical, weak-minded, hypocritical, evil and hysterical."Truly, one is inclined to sympathize with the vehemence of Mrs.
Catherine Waugh McCulloch in her terse comment upon the colonel's indictment of members of the Women's Peace society and others endeavoring to find a way to peace in Europe.

"Barbarian," said Mrs. McCulloch.

SCREENING
AND CLEANINGWe saw the first one a day or two ago, and since then we have seen them more and more frequently. The invasion has begun, and these outpost members of the force will soon be swelled by millions more. The tribe of flies is upon us, and it behooves us to do battle.It isn't a bit too early to get your screens up. It's a little late, if anything. But don't wait any longer before getting your defenses in shape. To get your screens up now will save many exasperating hunts after the pesky violator of the sugar bowl in months to come. Also, do not forget that a swat in time saves nine million or so, according to experts in fly vital statistics.But screening and swatting, commendable as they are, do not comprise the whole duty of man in regard to the fly evil. They are defensive measures at best. Flies we will have always with us, swarming at every breach in our defenses, unless we carry the war to them. We must destroy the fly nurseries as well as the adults if the fly campaign is to bring results. Here is where summer health and comfort fit into the cleanup and paint up campaign which Mayor Sorensen, Health Commissioner Furstenburg and the boy scouts have organized for next week.Cleaning up does not mean simply raking the lawn and carting off the ash-heap. It means cleaning up for keeps, disposing of unsightly and il-health-producing accumulations and getting a new start on the right lines.
It means putting the compost heap
and the garbage into fly-tight containers. It means, in other words, putting the fly out of business by depriving him of any place to rest his troublesome head.Next week is Clean Up and Paint Up Week. He will be a good citizen whom next Saturday finds with his house, his stable and his garbage can fly-proof according to their degree.WILLINGLY
TO SCHOOLSuperintendent L. P. Benzet recently conducted a questionnaire among the grade school pupils of the city, to discover how many of them were likely to be enrolled if his project of a six-week, part-time summer school were to be adopted by the board of education. He was surprised to find that about two-fifths or more than 1,600 pupils were willing to avail themselves of the opportunity to make up lost work or expedite the training.Mr. Benzet's surprise will be echoed by men and women—the loudest echo will probably come from the men—who can remember with what eagerness they counted the days until vacation when the sun had begun to warm up the river and coaxthe leaves out on the trees. It is rather upsetting to the tradition that the schoolboy's shining morning face is always pointed "unwillingly to school."Perhaps it means that the younger generation is growing up in an attitude, strange to its ancestors, of considering the benefits of education before its irksome bondage. Perhaps it means that La Crosse teachers and curriculum have evolved a more palatable method than the older one of aiming the young idea. Whatever its inwardness, however, it furnishes Mr.
Benzet with an excellent argument
for his summer school plan.Quips and Cranks

O Captain! My Captain!

The ship has weathered every rack,
the prize we sought is won,
the port is near, the bells I hear,
the people all exulting,
while follow eyes the steady keel,
the vessel grim and daring;
But O heart! heart! heart!
O the bleeding drops of red,
Where on the deck my Captain lies, Fallen cold and dead.O Captain! My Captain! rise up and hear the bells;
Rise up—for you the flag is flung—
for you the bugle trills,
for you the bouquets and ribboned wreaths—for you the shores
acrowding,
For you they call, the swaying mass,
their eager faces turning;
Here Captain! dear Father!
This arm beneath your head!
It is some dream that on the deck
You've fallen cold and dead.My Captain does not answer, his lips are pale and still,
My father does not feel my arm, he has no pulse nor will,
The ship is anchored safe and sound,
its voyage closed and done,
From fearful trip the victor ship
comes in with object won;
Exult, O shores, and ring, O bells!
But I with mournful tread
Walk the deck my Captain lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

—Walt Whitman.

streets, each wearing a ball and was chained to his leg.

"There appeared on my brother's face and head little red spots which itched awfully and he scratched. Always after while these red spots turned gradually into bigger sore spots covering all his head. They were kind of whitish on top. The hair came out on the sore places
and he was awfully cross.
"At first we used salve and ointment—but they seemed to do no good. I read the Cuticura advertisement in the paper and sent for a

They stopped the itching a little and seemed soothing so we went to drugstore and bought some more. He washed his head with Cuticura Soap and then smeared the Cuti-

three or four weeks his head is perfectly well and he is getting nice new hair."

Only Side Issue

sat beside a suffragist, who har-angued him on the importance of woman.With his urbane smile Dr. Abbott endured the young lady's eloquence till the coming of the coffee. Then he ventured to say, very mildly:"The importance of woman? The im-

Scripture teaches us that woman is but a side issue!"

Wanted to See It, Too

said:"I reckon ol' man Williams has effort to move.

"Certainly is!" Bud answered.

The Russian Peasant.

In "The Russian Army From Within" the author, Mr. Stevens, thus describes the appearance of the Russian peasant:"The ordinary peasant, the man who has built up the Russian empire with his blood and his toil, is not a big man.
He is of medium stature, broad shouldered and sturdy, with square forehead, square jaw, regular Arian features and a flowing beard, unless he comes of Tartar or Finnish extraction.
In short, the pure Russian is an Arian, with a considerable admixture of Scandian blood in his veins, especially in the northern government, where the finest Russ or Russian types are found."

MIRAGE

Abou-Yakoud glided through the narrow Moorish doorway into the passage. Immediately before him, beyond the shadows, lay the courtyard, and where the red gold of the departing sun still lingered on the white pavement two women talked,
their low voices mingling musically with the dreamy murmurings of the fountain. Abou-Yakoud stood still and smiled. Perhaps the contrast between the two women amused him.
Perhaps with the Arab passion for smile he saw in one the somber, sedately plumaged nightingale, in the other the gorgeous bird of paradise, preening herself in conscious knowledge of her beauty. At last he came out into the light. His manner had changed. It had become subtly deferential, and his gesture of salutation was inimitable in its suggested homage and a hundred unspoken flatteries."Madame, it's Abou-Yakoud who ventures before you," he said in his soft Arab French. "Abou-Yakoud, who has seen Mecca and who reads Destiny as an open book. Give me your hand, Madame. For a little frame, I will tell you good and evil—what was and what is to come."Sylvia Arnaud started slightly and turned."You should not come in here," she said impatiently, and yet not without a childish touch of hesitation. "Begging is forbidden.""Madame, Abou-Yakoud is no beggar. Behold, let the proof be shown. There shall be no question of money. For love of the truth Abou-Yakoud will speak and speak truly. Is it agreed?"She laughed a little. There was a faint color in her cheeks and laughter in her eyes. Like an amused child she drew off her white glove and held out a whiter hand, palm upward."There—have your way. But be quick, for I am in a hurry. And do not tell me that I am married, or that I am from a far-off country,
for those are old tricks, Monsieur Abou-Yakoud.""What I can tell few know," he answered gravely.He bent over her hand, but he only glanced at it. After that his eyes were fixed meditatively on the gray-clad figure by the fountain, as though he found there a source of inspiration. But the bird of grave plumage did not look at him. Her head, with its smooth coils of dark brown hair, was bent, and she watched the fish flashing like living rays of light through the crystal water."To all things there must be a beginning," he said at last. "What Madame has said Abou-Yakoud must acknowledge. She is married, and her birthplace is a far-off country. She loves, yet is her heart not in this house. She dreams, and in her dreams there is always the shadow of one whom she has never seen. Is it not so?"She bit her lip, half frowning, half impressed."It is either all nonsense or a great truth," she said."It is truth, Madame. And in her dreams there are other shadows. I see that of a man whose fate was once knit with hers, and whose dark thread of destiny is still close woven in the pattern of her life. It looms black—this shadow—it towers over the rest, and because of it great sorrows will be done. Behold, in Ma-dame's hand Abou-Yakoud sees many things—strong love and strong hate —love that begets hate and love that begets sacrifice. He sees death—and life. For it is written that Madame shall throw the dice—and even as she throws so shall the dark thread be cut short or become strong, so shall the pattern become bold and splendid with many joys or a tangle of mesh."She pulled her hand away. The color in her cheeks had deepened with anger and a vague discomfort."Abou-Yakoud hides folly with a dark cloak of wisdom," she said in broken contemptuous Arabic. "It is not worth the franc he begged for, but he shall have it. Now—be gone!"She tossed a handful of money on to the white stone flags. Each coin rang out like a note of jangling laughter, which still echoed after her as she passed into the shadows of the gateway.

the nickel plects from the ground. When he looked up again he stood straight and erect, and the beard had vanished.

"Gabrielle!" he said softly.

She turned a little. The warm gold of evening was on her face and softened the stern lines to a mild and noble serenity.

"I know," she said. "Your voice betrayed you. And then—sooner or later I felt that you would come, though for what purpose God knows."

"Let us hope he does not," he answered sardonically. "I am here on my own business, and my own business has no sanctity about it. To track down some one—to use life against life, one man's passion against another's—scarcely a profession likely to merit Heaven's blessing, Gabrielle."

"Yet you came here to warn Madame Arnaud. Was that part of it all?"

"A vital part. Madame Arnaud plays my game—but blindly, recklessly like a child. Edged tools are dangerous out here, Gabrielle. The petty scratches which women love to inflict become deep poisonous wounds. Men go mad under them. Madmen are beyond control, and I must keep control if I am to win through to the things I want."

"The things you want?" she echoed with deep sadness. "What are they now, Stephen? He made no answer for a minute. He stood there frowning at the ground, and then suddenly, like a man swept from his purpose by an irresistible tide, he drew back with a gesture of fearless decision. "I thought—that evening—you understand," she said.

"I understood what you meant," he answered passionately. "Your memory of me was buried. I came to you as a ghost of a past that you denied. I was nothing—am nothing. I know you, Gabrielle. I am afraid of you. The very strength that made you dare so much for me—makes you pitiless—"

He knelt on the marble edge of the fountain and caught her hand. This time she yielded. But in that very concession there was a finality. And suddenly tears came to the man's eyes—the terrible tortured tears of a grief that the years have held in frozen subjugation. "Gabrielle!" he repeated hoarsely, "Gabrielle!"

She looked down at him. Her free hand she laid quietly upon his.

"You are cruel to yourself," she said. "Why have you come, Stephen?"

"God knows. Are we ever sincere? I told myself and you it was to warn that woman—to lift an edge of the veil with which she covers her own insanity, but it was all a lie. I have lied so much in all these ghastly years, Gabrielle. I have lied most of all to my own conscience. I have called you an episode—a folly. I have heaped contempt on you, on my memory of you, and always you have risen as now—the one pure thing that I have loved, my one virtue, my own fidelity—"

"Hush, Stephen, we have buried our dead."

"You have—I can not. I tried. At first it was remorse that would not let me—the knowledge that I have ruined you—dishonored you—"

"That is not true," she interrupted proudly. "No woman—no man—has ever been dishonored by one action. Honor is not a possession to be lost or broken. It is ourselves—what we are. If you had dishonored me I should be different; but I am not different. I have grown stronger—that is all. I see clearer. I am happy."

"Happy? And your name—your position—your people—all lost!"

She smiled faintly.

"Whys" of Moves in European War

(BY J. W. T. MASON)

NEW YORK, April 17.—The long delay that is occurring in the resumption of the allies' campaign against Constantinople is undoubtedly reassuring to the Turks and makes improbable reports from London and Paris that Turkey is anxious to agree to a separate peace.

The Turks have not as yet, had any cause for regret for having entered the war. They have the better of the military situation as it exists today and if the allies are not able to press the Mohammedans any harder in the future than they have done in the past, Turkey will emerge from the war a winner. If Bulgaria and Greece were to enter the war on the side of the allies, the Turks

REV. PETER NELSON COMING BACK HERE TO PREACH GOSPEL

Man Who Piloted Congregation in Early Days Returns to Lead People to Christ

Rev. Peter Nelson of Duluth, one of the oldest ministers in the Norwegian Lutheran church, who thirty years was pastor of St. Paul's Norwegian Lutheran church of this city, will conduct a series of mission meetings at Bethel Lutheran church, 511 and George streets, starting Thursday night. He will be assisted by Rev. Carl Aang of Minneapolis, now a traveling missionary for the Lutheran Free church. The pastorate of Bethel church was left vacant recently by the removal of Rev. O. L. Christensen to Hendricks, Minn.

The series will open Thursday evening. Afternoon and evening services will be held Friday and Saturday and on Sunday, the three services, morning, afternoon and evening, will be given over especially to the mission work.

Similar meetings have been held annually at Bethel church for a number of years, they being a stated part of the program of the Lutheran Free church. They are conducted primarily in the interests of missions, but are also in the nature of revival services.

The number of "travelingmen" at the station lately has been a highly reliable barometer of past temperatures. Thursday night was comparatively warm. There were eight men at the station. Friday night was colder and three and one-half times the number applied for lodging for the night.

MORAN SUPPORTS DUFFNER IN FIGHT FOR GOOD BUTTER

West Salem Creamery Man Says Carelessness in Handling Cream Has Deteriorated Product Here

J. H. Moran, manager of the West Salem Co-operative creamery supports the statement of S. J. Duffner, state dairy and food inspector, in a recent interview in The TRIBUNE in which he maintained that "seventy per cent of Wisconsin butter is inferior." Mr. Moran declares that while Wisconsin has the best facilities for producing butter, the grade of the product is below that of twenty years ago.

In an interview with The TRIBUNE, Mr. Moran says:

"Wisconsin dairymen are just awakening to a realization of the fact that, notwithstanding the many improved methods, the average quality of creamery butter is lower than it was twenty years ago. It is not difficult for one familiar with the business to cite a number of causes that have brought about this condition and when once the situation is made clear, an improvement will be shown immediately.

"No place or people on earth are better able to make finer butter than we are here, when once we get started right, and so we may as well come out into the open and admit our weak points that we may the sooner overcome them and present a more solid front against them in the future."

War Office News of Fighting

LONDON

LONDON, April 17.—Seven hundred men of the Indian army were lost in fighting against 15,000 Turks in Egypt, according to a statement issued last night by the Indian office.

BERLIN

BERLIN, via Wireless to London, April 17.—Hot fighting is going on at four distinct points in the battle line in France, according to dispatches received here today. The war office officially admitted a German reverse northwest of Arras, but declared that at every other point the enemy has been checked or pushed back.

The French have resumed their offensive between the Meuse and Moselle.

Northwest of Arras, in the Lorette hills, the Germans were forced to evacuate a small position at Appuif. In the Champagne region, northwest of Perthes, the Germans stormed a French fortification, and then repulsed a French counter-attack. Northwest of Urbes, in the Vosges, the Kaiser's troops captured a French position but afterward abandoned it because it was disadvantageously located.

On the east front there has been no change.

NORTH SIDE HAS STRAW HAT MAN IN SOUTHWORTH

"Did you see Southworth?" asked one friend of another this morning as he gazed wonderingly up Caledonia street at the rapidly diminishing figure of a man whose bearing was like that of a prince, but whose carriage betrayed just a slight touch of nervousness. A negative answer and then a return inquiry brought out the words, "straw hat," enough to explain the look of wonderment and amazement on the face of the speaker.

Indeed, E. A. Southworth, well known grain buyer and man about the North side, blossomed forth this morning in the glory of a really-true summer hat, of the light variety and of the kind not wholly insusceptible to early-spring comments of the public.

Reported Meeting Between Judge Redman and Millionaire Brewer Results in No Brightening of Prospects

FELIX MUETZE HERE SAYS OBERHOFFER IS MUSICAL PEER

La Crosse Musician Who Now Plays Regularly with Big Symphony Orchestra Lauds Director

Deepest esteem for Emil Oberhoffer, director of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, is expressed by Felix Muetze, 'cellist and French horn player of the orchestra, who has for the past few days been the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Muetze, Mormon Coulee road and Losey Boulevard. Mr. Muetze returned last night to Minneapolis, where he is engaged as a 'cello soloist at the Strand theater.

Mr. Muetze does not travel with the orchestra on the annual spring tour of eight weeks. He is with the organization, however, during the winter season of twenty-four weeks in Minneapolis and St. Paul and on the annual winter three weeks' tour of the principal cities of the United States. Only fifty of the eighty-five members of the orchestra are on the spring tour, in which La Crosse is included tonight with a recital at the Normal school.

Oberhoffer Played Pipe Organ
"Mr. Oberhoffer is the foremost authority on music in the northwest. He is looked up to more than any other man in the west. Thirteen years ago, he came to St. Paul. St. Paul did not recognize his talent and he went to Minneapolis. For a time he played the pipe organ in a leading Minneapolis church, where his ability was soon appreciated by Minneapolis music lovers. And then he formed the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, twelve years ago. From a struggling organization of five or six musicians, the orchestra has grown to be the finest of its kind in the west and one of the best in the United States, all through the untiring energy of Mr. Oberhoffer and the kind support of Minneapolis patrons.

He Memorizes All Scores
"One of the most striking characteristics of Mr. Oberhoffer," said Mr. Muetze, "is that he conducts the most difficult of symphonies without a score, except in rare cases. He has them all committed to memory. His interpretation is superb, bordering on the poetic. His marked ability is to give to the people through music what they have given him in music. His manner of conducting is probably the most graceful of any director in the country."

A small colony is formed by the orchestra when on the road. Two Pullmans and a baggage car are engaged, eliminating hotel expense and bother. This includes both the winter and spring tours.

Forty Concerts in Minneapolis
While in Minneapolis, the orchestra is the pride of the town. Its home is in the Auditorium, where all of the forty or more concerts are given. Eight concerts are given in St. Paul, since the disbanding of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra with its seventy-five pieces. The spring tour includes about fifty concerts and the three weeks' winter tour about twenty appearances.

Moritz, brother of Mr. Muetze, is also with the orchestra, being at present in Minneapolis.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, April 17.—The stock market opened active and erratic. American Locomotive opened with 1,800 shares at from 61 to 56. It closed yesterday at 60 1/4. Bethlehem Steel opened at 136, an advance of 1/4. United States Steel opened at 57 1/2, up 1/4. Union Pacific opened up 1/4 at 131 1/4.

The floor and brokers' offices were crowded today, an unusually large attendance for the short Saturday session.

After the first few minutes Locomotive reached a level around sixty. The interstate commerce commission's order calling off its probe of telephone and telegraph rates caused a rise of 1 1/2 points in American Telegraph and Telephone stock.

11 a. m.—In the first hour's trading 202,545 shares of stock changed hands—not very much less than yesterday's whirlwind of buying and selling during the same period. Baldwin Locomotive opened at 51 and jumped shortly to 55 1/4 on reports of the corporation's share in a $20,000,000 war order.

The market eased off slightly after 11 o'clock in the face of realizing by speculators unwilling to let their holdings go over until Monday. Notwithstanding this the market continued extremely strong. Industrials were particularly favorites.

There was another upward jump before closing. Almost all the standard issues, heretofore sluggish, took a sudden active turn, responding to the trading in United States Steel. Brokers felt that this indicated even further advances. Trading continued brisk.

The Consolidated Stock exchange reported the heaviest Saturday's business since last December. The sales aggregated 47,700 shares. Steel stimulated the entire list to upward prices. In Steel 25,910 shares changed hands.

The trading was so feverish on the stock exchange that two brokers engaged in a fist fight just at the close. A total of 624,950 shares was traded in during the two hour session.

NEXT WEEK LAST OF VAUDEVILLE

Theater Will Be Turned Over to the "Movies" Following Its Annual Summer Custom

SEASON TO END WITH BRILLIANCE

Both of Last Half-week Shows Crackerjacks; First to Feature Remarkable Musical Comedietta

Tomorrow begins the last week of vaudeville for the present season, according to announcement today by Manager Frank L. Koppelberger of the Majestic theater. Following his annual custom, the Majestic will be turned over to the "movies" for the summer.

The vaudeville season will disappear with a smashing wind-up. The Majestic is arranging for two cracker-jack shows for the last two bills which will leave a pleasant taste in the mouths of vaudeville patrons of the city. The last half week's booking is not completed yet, and will not be announced until early next week, but the first half week show is a promising one.

It will feature a remarkable comedietta, "Music Hath Charms," which in material and setting is entirely apart from any previous offering in vaudeville. A playlet with an agreeable and well-constructed plot is the framework through which are introduced musical numbers of exceptional class. The quality of the music is vouched for by the reputation of its performers, led by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Voelker. Voelker is a famous violinist. He is a pupil of the famous Spanish master, Sarasate, and his proficiency as a musician will be appreciated when it is known that he was formerly concert master of the symphony orchestra in Hamburg, Germany.

Mr. Voelker's musical ability is enhanced by the advantage of a beautiful Bergonzi violin, dated 1783. It is one of the most celebrated masterpieces of this noted pupil of Stradivari, and has an interesting history. Mr. Voelker draws music from the Bergonzi fiddle with a bow from the workshop of Tourte, French bowmaker, which was formerly the much-prized possession of Sarasate.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank the many friends who so graciously extended their aid and sympathy during our recent bereavement. We especially wish to thank the members of the I. O. O. F., the choir, the neighbors for their many kindnesses and those who sent flowers.

Mrs. Anton Peterson and Family.

DE PALMA'S BROTHER IN SPEEDWAY RACE

John De Palma has been entered in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race with the Delage that annexed last year's contest. He is a brother of the famous Ralph De Palma and served as the latter's mechanic all of last season. Knowing all the tricks of the trade he is expected to bring the Delage back to its old-time form and show the rest of the field some real old-fashioned De Palma driving.

A young man would rather owe money to his father than to his "uncle."

More Than a Hundred Visitors Expected for Convention Opening on Monday

More than one hundred people are expected to arrive in the city to attend the Wisconsin Music Teachers' convention at the normal school on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

One of the most entertaining and instructive numbers on the program is the lecture recital on Modern French music by Miss Ella Smith of Milwaukee.

The Tuesday afternoon recital given by Miss Loverhill, violinist, Miss Treat, accompanist, and Mr. Jerry, pianist, all Wisconsin musicians, will be a pleasing addition to the convention.

Tuesday evening Arthur Shattuck will give a program.

Arthur Shattuck is a Wisconsin boy—a pupil of the great Leschetizky.

Wednesday evening after the banquet will be heard a program by Miss Bettray, pianist; Mr. Schutte, violinist; Miss Wittwer, contralto; Mrs. Hyde, accompanist.

GERMAN REPORTERS WORLD-HIKE HERE

Two leg-weary young men, reporters for the Berliner Neuesten Nachrichten, hiked into La Crosse today enroute from Milwaukee to St. Paul on one of the reaches of a long tramp which is to take them over Europe, Asia, Africa and North America in five years. There is a prize of fifty thousand marks awaiting them in Berlin if they make the trip inside the time limit, having made their living enroute. The two young men are William Berner and Willie von Hausen. Both are reserve lieutenants in the German cavalry. They say that when the war broke out they made futile attempts to get from New York to Germany but were turned back at the coast.

MRS. VERMILYEA FREE

CHICAGO, April 17.—Two indictments, charging two murders, against Mrs. Louise E. Vermilyea were dismissed today by Assistant State Attorney Baker. Mrs. Vermilyea's case was known as the famous pepper-box murder mystery. A jury disagreed after her trial on a charge of poisoning Richard F. Smith. The death of Policeman Arthur Bissonetta was laid to her hand in an indictment. The woman has been out on bail. Charges that evidence against the woman had been manufactured was a factor in dismissal of the case.

COURT DISMISSES MISDOERS

Cases of Dionisios Stadiopoulos charged with breaking into and stealing a small sum of money from the pool hall owned by George Crendall, and that of Mrs. Minnie Biggs accused of stealing $5 from James Bly were dismissed by Judge John Brindley in country court this morning.

NEW YORK, April 17.—That the speculation mind was not influenced by the official repudiation of yesterday's Wall street estimates of "individual war orders," was evident at the start today. The course of the stock market equally reflected indifference to the news that London's stock exchange was letting down the bars in the matter of direct arbitrage sales of American stocks to the New York market. The market opened at higher prices, and promptly plunged into fresh excited speculation for the rise.

A "bull market" with the character and proportions of that which has this month broken out on Wall street, will always be regarded from several divergent points of view. There will arise the question as to the bearing of such a speculation on the machinery of the money market and on the financial position itself.

With this there will be considered the larger question, just what the movement on the Stock exchange foreshadows, in the direction of outside trade revival and prosperity. The first of these questions is as yet disputed by good judges; to the second, it is rather generally answered that the spirit of financial confidence displayed in Wall street, will find expression, later on, in distinct industrial revival.

FORTUNES MADE IN FEW HOURS IN STOCK BULGE ON NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 17.—"Get rich quick" yarns of stock speculation fortunes today permeated Wall street. The skyrocketing of Bethlehem Steel, American Locomotive, United States Steel and other stocks in the bulge brought out the usual crop of millionaires made over night.

One of the biggest winners in Bethlehem Steel, according to reports circulated today, is Samuel Untermeyer, foe of the "Money trust," and opponent of the stock market and speculation. He is said to hold 15,000 shares of Bethlehem, bought around 25, and at closing figures of 138 is said to be $2,000,000 richer. Jules S. Bache, of J. S. Bache & Company, is said to have cleaned up $1,000,000 on Bethlehem.

MRS. ROCKEFELLER LEAVES MILLION FOR CHARITY PURPOSES

Specific Bequests to Relatives and Friends
Amount to Only $550,000

NEW YORK, April 17.—Many charitable bequests were made in the will of the late Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, wife of the world's richest man, which was filed for probate today in the surrogate's court. Her estate was valued at about $1,500,000. She made specific bequests of $550,000 and left her residuary estate of $1,000,000 to be divided among the following institutions as her three trustees may determine:

Euclid Avenue Baptist church, Cleveland; Baptist Home of Northern Ohio; Baptist Home Society of New York; Women's Baptist Farm Mission society; Women's Baptist Home Missionary society; Spellman Seminary of Atlanta; Bureau of Social Hygiene.

Mrs. Rockefeller left her son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., $100,000. Similar amounts were bequeathed to Mrs. Alta Rockefeller Prentice, her daughter, who is the wife of Edward Parmalee Prentice of Chicago; Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, wife of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, and Margaret Strong, her niece, who is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie R. Strong, deceased sister of the testatrix. Lucy M. Spellman, a sister of Mrs. Rockefeller, was given $50,000.

To her husband and son, John D. Jr., Mrs. Rockefeller left also her jewelry and other trinkets, directing that her husband be given her "old ruby and diamond ring" and other mementos. Caroline F. Skedd, described as "a friend," was left an annual life income of $1,000.

The trustees named by Mrs. Rockefeller, who died at the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills, March 12, were her husband, son and Mrs. Prentice.

LEAP YEAR DANCE DESPITE YEAR'S DATE

Notwithstanding the fact that leap year does not come until 1916, the SigmaAlpha Sigma, a former sorority of the local high school, Monday night entertained at a dancing party at the Woodmen hall. The hall was decorated in red and black, the high school colors, and presented a pretty appearance. Fifty couples were present, and the party was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. F. H. Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. James Hodge. The grand march was led by Prof. and Mrs. Fowler, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Hodge, Miss Winifred Forbes and Ralph Bradish, Miss Marie Rawlinson and Donald Valler, Miss Esther Linker and Emmett Hassett, Miss Harriet Scofield and Andrew Boyd, Miss Elizabeth Rawlinson and Frank Allen, and Miss Grace Forbes and Gordon Holway.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ENTERTAIN

The sixth grade pupils of St. Mary's school, on Friday afternoon, entertained the school children with a program of songs and readings.

Sarcastic Married Man.
"Yes," said the bachelor, with the conscious pride of sacrifice. "I make a point of giving up certain pleasures during Lent." "Huh!" snorted the married man. "You bachelors have a cinch on that sort of thing. What are forty days to three hundred and sixty-five?"—Town Topics.

Daily Thought.

Much of the charm of life is ruined by exacting demands of confidence. . . . Those who wish to destroy all mystery in those they love, to have everything revealed, are unconsciously killing their own happiness.—Stopford Brooke.

Sleeplessness.

The best remedy for sleeplessness is a combination of honest work and clear conscience. If this fails, as occasionally it does, try an onion salad (if you sleep by yourself) followed by a glass of hot milk or water.

A. C. GRAMS RETURNS FROM Y. M. C. A. MEET

Association Is on Sound Basis Says Local Secretary Following Annual Convention

That the status of the Young Men's Christian association in Wisconsin is on a sound basis and that the work of the association is growing yearly is the statement of A. C. Gram, general secretary of the La Crosse Y. M. C. A., upon his return this morning from the annual convention of the state organization held Thursday in the city Y. M. C. A. of Milwaukee.

Mr. Gram was one of more than a hundred delegates attending the convention, at which were represented more than ten thousand association members. Present at the meeting were George D. McNeill, international secretary; C. C. Gittings of Racine; Dr. W. S. Naylor and F. J. Harwood of Appleton; H. C. Moehlmann of Clinton; L. W. Messmer of Chicago, and L. F. Bower of Milwaukee.

WAR DRAMA FOR NORTH AND SOUTH

"The Warrens of Virginia," the picturization of Wm. C. DeMille's famous Broadway hit of the same name now being offered by Jesse L. Lasky in association with David Belasco, might truly be described as a civil war drama of the north and the south. Probably no other war drama ever so conscientiously tried to show both sides of the struggle. It is more than neutral. It positively takes both sides of the question, showing the sincerity of conviction both on the part of the northern soldiers and their gallant southern adversaries.

The great moral of the story is that political differences should never end in personal enmities. The southern general who fights most heroically for the lost cause has yet such a broad view of life that he urges his daughter to follow the dictates of her heart and marry the northern man, now a lieutenant, to whom she was engaged in the days "befo' the war." Showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Bijou.

THAW MUST GO BACK

Best to Stay Out.

"Be keeful about buttin' in," said Uncle Eben, "even when you know a man is wrong. De chances are dat he knowed it befo' you."

Happiness.

Happiness lies in the consciousness we have of it, and by no means in the way the future keeps its promise.—George Sand.

BOY SCOUTS START ON CLEAN UP WORK

Whole patrols of boy scouts were out this morning at seven o'clock in the interests of the clean-up campaign. They inspected practically all of the premises on the South side today and served their clean-up notices on every property holder who had an ash pile, refuse pile or yard full of litter.

The boys have taken hold of the work with enthusiasm. A downtown businessman, however, who offered to hang up a cash prize for the youngster who collected the greatest number of old tin cans was discouraged.

"We are not making scavengers of the youngsters," said Dr. Furstman, the health officer. "We do not want the boys to gather rubbish, we merely want them to inspect and notify the owners of premises where rubbish exists that it must be cleaned up."

HOSTILE IRONCLAD SUFFERS IN STRAIT

Hit Four Times and Retires in Flames Says a Constantinople Statement

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Berlin Wireless, April 17.—A hostile ironclad that bombarded the outer fort of the Dardanelles late yesterday was badly damaged and put out of action by the Turkish guns, according to an official statement from the war office today.

The warship was hit four times. The ironclad was in flames when she steamed slowly back to Tenedos Island.

The Russian Black sea fleet has bombarded the Turkish coaling ports of Eragli and Zungulda, the war office announced, but without doing serious damage.

Reports received here indicate that both the Anglo-French and the Russian fleet have abandoned serious attempts to reach Constantinople.

"MIKADO" PLEASES CROWDED HOUSE

High School Glee Clubs
Surprise and Delight
in Famous Comic Opera
SOLO CASTE REALLY EXCELLENT
Principals and Chorus Alike Carry Off Performance
with High Degree of Skill

(BY ISADOR TIFFMANN)
A very large audience attended the production of the opera, "Mikado," by the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs of the La Crosse High school under the direction of Miss Ida MacLean at the theater last evening. And this large audience was surprised, amused, delighted. The solo caste was really excellent and in this short review of the performance the soloists are considered in the order in which their names appeared on the program:

Mr. Maynard Barney carried the title role and he impersonated the Mikado with rare taste. He sang his songs intelligently and his makeup with the impossible mustache created much merriment.

Mr. Harry Marshall as Nanki Too, the wandering minstrel, was in good voice and carried his part most creditably in song and action.

Muldowney Real Comedian
Ko Ko (Lord High Executioner of Titipu) had in Mr. Sylvester Muldowney a representative of the choicest type. His facial expression, his artistic enthusiasm, his easy stage manner and his natural humor furnished unlimited pleasure to the delighted audience. His singing was agreeable.

Pooh Bah (Lord High Everything Else) by Mr. Marshall Cohen was all that could be asked in matters of unlimited dignity and one began to wonder if this almighty man might not be able to stop the European war. His singing was also very enjoyable.

The work of Hugh Marshall in the role of Pish Tush added greatly to the enjoyment of the audience. The young man displayed large talent as a comedian and his work fitted admirably into the efforts of the balance of the company.

Miss Edith Weisbord as Yum Yum, though known to be a young lady of exceptional musical and dramatic talent, surprised her friends last evening by a truly remarkable impersonation. Her acting was vivacious and full of spirit. Her singing was on a par with her acting and her appearance bewitching.

Three Sister Trio
Miss Florence Clark as Pitti Sing, and Miss Emily Goetzmann as Pee-Bo were extremely graceful and they were really delightful to behold in their bashfulness and innocent simplicity. Their singing was also very fine. Together with Miss Weisbord they made a trio of sisters that made a most exquisite picture to behold.

Katisha (an elderly lady) impersonated by Miss Ruth Whisler, acted her difficult part in a manner deserving of high praise. The young lady had tears in her voice and speech at times and her expression of disappointment, agony and despair were most realistic and amazing.

Chorus Animated
The chorus sang with a good deal of animation and moved with becoming facility on the stage. The splendid stage settings also deserve a word of praise. The whole opera passed without a hitch and everything showed that the rehearsals individually and collectively had been taken seriously and the result was truly gratifying. Miss Ida MacLean, who, with the same high school material a year ago produced the opera "The Pirates of Penzance," with most excellent success, has with this Mikado performance furnished new and convincing proof of her ability as an instructor of excellent judgment, of untiring energy and superlative industry.

The Fool's Tower.
Vienna's "Fool's tower" was remarkable for its extraordinary collection of strange instruments and fetters used in the treatment of the insane of past ages. There was a curious machine in which unruly maniacs were swung until they were in a state of stupefaction and therefore quiet. And the same idea caused the invention of a wheel that revolved like that in a modern squirrel cage. There was a narrow upright box called an "English coffin," from which the patient could look out, but could not move. When it was built in 1794 the "Fool's tower" marked a great change for the better in the housing of the insane. From 200 to 250 patients occupied its 139 cells.

Chamois Leather.
Chamois leather is rather expensive, so that it is just as well to know how to clean it. Put it into a weak solution of soda into which you have thrown some grated soap. Leave it for two hours and then rub it until clean. Finally rinse the leather in warm, soapy water. Wring the leather in a linen cloth and dry quickly.

Oven Cleanliness.
An oven that is constantly in use requires to be kept scrupulously clean. It should not only have the shelves scrubbed out with soda occasionally, but in addition the shelves should be painted with quicklime two or three times a year. An oven treated in this way never becomes caked with grease and there is no unpleasant smell when it is being used.

Some of your friends may be the sort who insure you plenty of enemies.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back
Its Natural Color, Gloss
and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. Chas. A. Bessie, agent, 503 Main street.

PUCKETT DEFEATS CLASS "A" CHAMP

By defeating Edward Fox yesterday 22 to 11, Rossell Puckett, champion of class "D" in the Y. M. C. A. billiard tournament, practically clinched the title. Fox finished the season at the head of class "A," being handicapped at 82.

Warlike Leaders

Sir Francis Younghusband said that when the British expedition to Lhasa first met the Tibetans and a fight was provoked, the Lamas protested against the wickedness of the British attack. The Tibetans, they insisted, had never meant resistance, and for proof they pointed to the presence of the leaders with the troops. If, they said, any fighting had been intended all those in authority would of course have moved a day's march to the rear!

PIONEER GUN CLUB HAS FIRST SHOOT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Newly Organized Club Will Meet at the West Avenue Range for Initial Meet

Tomorrow afternoon will see the first shoot of the Pioneer Gun club, which was organized Wednesday night at a meeting of trap shooting followers at the Wells-Fargo office. Secretary Adolph Patrick today said that the time of meeting will probably be definitely settled tomorrow, at a conference to be held at the old West Avenue grounds before the shoot. It is thought that Sunday afternoons will be picked, as the La Crosse Gun Club meets Sunday mornings. Several men are members of both clubs.

The initial membership of thirty-nine is expected to be boosted to fifty by tomorrow afternoon. Several shooters have already handed in their names to Secretary Patrick. They will be passed upon soon.

KILBANE BALKS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 17.—Johnny Kilbane kicked over the traces today and refused to meet Joe Mandot in New Orleans May 3 for $2,000, and thirty per cent of the gate. Kilbane's manager had fixed up the bout, but the feather champion, who now hopes to take the lightweight's measure, said $2,000 was not enough.

It is an easy matter to keep a strangle hold on your temper if you know that it will cost you your job to turn it loose.

TEAMS TAKE FINAL PRACTICES SUNDAY FOR OPENING GAME

Nelsons and Athletes Work Out for Game Next Sunday; Thompsons and Trainmen Out

Nelsons at Copeland park. Thompsons at the high school. Trainmen at Copeland park. Athletes at normal school field.

Such is the program mapped out by Managers Theodore Comeau, William Wagner, Harvey Boyle and William Krause for their baseballers tomorrow.

The promise of clear skies by the weatherman has brought wreaths of smiles to the faces of Comeau and Krause, whose athletes clash a week from tomorrow in the first game of the season at League park. The men were out last Sunday, but on account of the cold and dreary day were unable to uncork much of their wares. Pitchers, especially, are looking forward to a hard workout tomorrow in preparation for the opening of the season.

The practices of the Thompsons and Trainmen is expected to be less hard, as their first games are two weeks distant. The men, however, will be put through a stiff drill to bring out whatever latent talent is in them.

WILLARD RECEIVES COLD RECEPTION AT WHITE PLAINS

NEW YORK, April 17.—Jess Willard, champion heavyweight, had a lurking suspicion today that Gotham fight fans are losing their first frenzy over his victory. Willard and Manager Tom Jones went to White Plains last night to give an exhibition. Jess was guaranteed $750, but when the promoters did not fork over and Jess saw only 300 spectators in the "house," he refused to put on the gloves and motored back here.

Attacked in Front and Rear.

A youngster of our acquaintance who has a faculty for getting into scrapes recently expressed the wish that he was a postage stamp. When asked why, he answered: "Because a postage stamp can only be licked once." Whereupon we pointed out that the stamp received, besides the licking, a severe punch in the face.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN (Written for the United Press.)

Wilbur Good beat the Cardinals single handed. With the score tied he caught one on the pick and it sent him around the circuit with the game.

Poll Perritt did not live up to his advertising when he wavered in the ninth and let the Dodgers smash out a victory.

Long Cyrus Falkenburg was jam-basted to all corners of the lot by the Baltimore while "Won't You Come Home Bill" Bailey was holding Cy's mates to five widely scattered hits.

Mr. Mack's well known cripples seem to have an uncanny habit of making things hard for a real team. They battled the Red Sox to a six-six tie.

Steve Yerkes will be out of the game for a month probably. He hit the dirt in the Whales-Rebels game and turned his ankle.

Chick Hanford, performing as a pinch hitter, gave the Whales the game by clouting a single in the ninth with Jimmy Smith on the runway.

Grover Loudermilk held the White Sox to three hits while Rickey's pupils were slamming Reb Russell's slants to the wild winds.

Young Mr. Chapman of the Indians is starting off in the form he was advertised to have last season before he broke his leg. He garnered four blows, one a triple, and handled four chances without a boggle.

Tom McGuire, last year's Chi-Ped pitcher, is going to get even with a lot of baseball guys that stopped his pay check. He has accepted a sport editor's desk on a British Columbia paper.

Proof Against Forgery. Checks signed with an electric pen are said to be proof against forgery.

There is only one kind of a "holler" that does any good in business. You may rail against fate, conditions, war, etc., but it won't help.

The effective "holler" is the one that goes over the Long Distance Telephone—it gets there quickly, it gets to the person you want and you get results—via
